

I strongly urge the FCC to deny any cross-ownership of TV and newspapers by a single corporation. In this time of crisis, now more than ever, we need diversity in our news sources, and allowing cross-ownership won't do that. Furthermore, any corporation now owning TV and newspapers in any market, such as the Tribune (Los Angeles Times and KTLA) should be required to sell either the station or the paper. Russ Nichols